This admirable book contains fascinating autobiographical accounts, by some of Southeast Asia's most eminent scholars, concerning their struggle to find their own voices in interpreting the region to which they belong. The book should be indispensable to anyone interested in thinking about knowledge production and its politics in a postcolonial world. In the views of these scholarly Southeast Asians, we are made to see, in very personal terms, the link between the global crisis in the social sciences and the need to find remedies for it that are neither Eurocentric nor parochially anti-Western.

London: John Lane, 2010

iii. ; 273p. ; 22cm.

ISBN-13: 9780956662224 (HB)

$ 30.00

The earthquake of 8th October 2005 in Northern Pakistan was a movement of the earth's tectonic plates so devastatingly cataclysmic that entire mountain sides crashed to the floors of valleys, giant fissures opened to swallow and entomb farmers and their flocks, a generation of children was crushed to death under the roofs of their ill-constructed schools, entire villages and towns crumbled to rubble and a myriad souls perished in the debris. This book recounts the efforts made to help the victims in the aftermath of the tragedy, providing a unique window on the courage of those afflicted people whose lives could never again be the same.

Pakistan: Social and Cultural Transformations in a Muslim Nation / Mohammad A. Qadeer

Lahore: Vanguard Books (Pvt) Ltd., 2011

xiv. 322p. ; 25cm.

ISBN-13: 9789694025452 (HB)

$ 60.00

Muslim societies are presumed to be stagnant and resistant to change. Yet the reality is quite the contrary. Pakistan is a pivotal Muslim. It exemplifies the scope and direction of social change in a Muslim society. This book shows how modernization as well as Islamization are simultaneously acting as processes of social transformation in Pakistan, along with population growth, urbanization and economic development. It offers an insightful view into Pakistan, exploring the wide range of ethnic groups, the countryside and cities, religion and community, and popular culture and national identity.

Real Life Stories of Migrant Workers and Urban Transplants / An Dun

Beijing: New World Press, 2011

222p. ; 24cm.

ISBN-13: 9787510418006
The Chinese Dream Series
$ 15.00

This book contains the stories of ten migrant workers and urban transplants. The stories are presented as interviews. What do they think about their lives? What is their world like? These people persist amid the changing tapestry of ideals in contemporary China and we find they reflect, in different ways, the spirit of the Chinese people.
