Weaving Our Dreams: The Tiboli People of the Philippines / Sandie Oreta Gillis
Canada: Friesen Press, 2022
x, 82p.

210gm.

When artist Francis Herradura takes an immersive cultural journey to Lake Sebu on the island of Mindanao in the Philippines, it not only inspires her to create art, it motivates her to share her experience with the world. Weaving Our Dreams: The Tiboli People of the Philippines celebrates the Tiboli culture and traditions that have been passed down through the generations: making the sacred tnalak cloth, chanting the legend of Tudbulul, and performing music, songs and dances. It introduces dreamweaver Barbara Ofong and musician/performer Maria Todi, and provides a glimpse of the Tiboli way of life through their eyes. These women are passionate about preserving their culture, traditions, lands and connection with nature. They are not alone; many people are working hard to raise awareness, fund initiatives and pass on the ancestral knowledge. As if knotting strands in an intricate tnalak design, Weaving Our Dreams ties the Tiboli past to the present—like a song of inspiration, it offers a vision and hope for future generations.

History

Foye and the Filipinos: Ballout, Escape, and Rescue of a Navy Fighter Pilot in World War Two Luzon / Richard P. Foye
Second Edition
Philippines: Richard P. Foye (Self-Published), 2022
368p.
Includes Bibliography
9781732469044
$ 50.00 / HB
576gm.

During WWII, Ensign William Foye, U.S.N.R., F6F Hellcat pilot, was a member of Air Group Twenty, assigned to the USS Enterprise, CV6. "The Big E" was a proud ship with good reason. AG-20 added to the war record of that famous carrier as part of Task Force 38 under Admiral Halsey. After twenty-two missions, Foye had to bail out of his plane over Los Banos, Laguna, in the Philippines after taking Japanese anti-aircraft fire. The people of southern Luzon, in particular the members of President Quezon's own Guerrillas, rescued Foye. They demonstrated great bravery, had great luck, and endured great sacrifices. This book tells the story of the Fighting Squadron Twenty, two downed pilots, the PQOG, the people of Luzon, the love story between Bill and his Navy nurse Betty, and his return home. As an example of a generation almost gone, this story is worth the eight years of work to do it justice. We pay our debt to all the brave people in this book by remembering.

Colonialism and Modernity: Re-Mapping Philippine Histories / (Eds) Oscar V. Campananes, Nobutaka Suzuki & Yoshiko Nagano

Naga City: Ateneo de Naga University Press, 2022

236p.

9786214720279

$ 40.00 / PB

356gm.

Colonialism and Modernity: Re-mapping Philippine Histories brings together the transdisciplinary work of Filipino, Filipino-American, and Japanese scholars who examine situations and histories of colonial modernity relating to the Philippines and its U.S.-based diaspora in the American-colonial and neo-colonial/post-independence periods. Coming from different disciplines (History, Literary and Cultural Studies, Anthropology, Economic History, Ethnomusicology) and area studies traditions (Philippine/Southeast Asian Studies, American Studies, and East Asian Studies), the authors experiment with forms of inquiry from other disciplines to probe questions of political economy, critical historiography, nationalist politics, and colonial education. Topically, the essays range widely: from debt and credit in Filipino American fiction and Hollywood film to the 'highland-lowland dichotomy' in Philippine cultural history and Renato Constantino's critical history-writing; from Philippine freemasonry in the revolutionary period and Manuel Quezon's political liminality as Commonwealth President to the history of American colonial pedagogy in the Muslim South and the 'static narratives' of post-independence history textbooks. Theoretically, as the editorial essay by Oscar V. Campomanes explains, this volume forms part of the effort, across various fields, to re-map histories of the past as histories of the present, attuned to and working out of the contradictory coupling of colonialism and modernity in the Philippine historical experience.

Moro Warrior: A Philippine Chieftain, an American Schoolmaster, and the Untold Story of the Most Remarkable Resistance Fighters of the Pacific War / Thomas Mckenna

4. Adil, Mohammad.

$ 35.00 / PB

434gm.

Moro Warrior tells the remarkable true story of the Philippine Muslim (Moro) resistance fighters of World War II-the most successful and least-known guerrillas of the Pacific Theater. It is the story of Mohammad Adil, a sword-wielding warrior chieftain commissioned as a junior officer in Douglas MacArthur's guerrilla army while still a teenager. Confident in his secret protective powers learned from a Sufi master, Adil roamed the highland rainforests with a price on his head, attacking Japanese outposts, surviving ambushes, and gaining a reputation as a man who could not be killed.

It is also the story of the colonial official Edward Kuder, foster father to Mohammad Adil and a rare American friend to the Moros, who sheltered him during the Japanese occupation. Kuder was the sole chronicler of the early Moro resistance-an armed opposition so vigorous that the soldiers of the Imperial Japanese Army found themselves outfought time and again by Moro irregulars.

When the soldiers of the Empire of Japan invaded their homeland, the Moros, sometimes with swords as their only weapons, bravely fought on alone after the rapid American surrender of the Philippines. At the urging of Edward Kuder, they later joined the American-led guerrilla movement that emerged in 1943 and served with distinction, but their exceptional contribution to the defeat of the Japanese occupiers and the liberation of the Philippines has never been properly acknowledged. Here, based on the vivid recollections of Mohammad Adil and the wartime writings of Edward Kuder, the extraordinary achievements and sacrifices of the Moro freedom fighters of Mindanao finally receive their full due.

On the GRP-NDFP: Peace Negotiations / Jose Maria Sison (Ed) Julieta de Lima Philippines: International Network for Philippine Studies (INPS), 2022
590p.
Sison Reader Series Book 9
$ 100.00 / HB
884gm.

This book, GRP-NDFP Peace Negotiations, spans the years 1986 to 2022. It reflects the role that I have played in exploring and realizing the peace negotiations. It carries the essays, statements and interviews related to the tremendous odds, explorations, preparations, the forging of agreements, frustrations and advances. I hope that this book can further enlighten and inspire the people, the advocates of a just peace and the contending parties to work for a just and lasting peace in the Philippines.

Before I close this preface, let me consider the possibility that through peace negotiations the GRP and NDFP agree to cease and desist from trying to destroy each other and decide to take the road of national unity and reconciliation, full national independence, democracy, social justice and economic development through genuine land reform and national industrialization and expansion of social services by using as the key the availment of certain natural resources (marine and mineral) that the Philippines has in abundance in the West Philippine Sea (aside from the methane nodules, oil deposits and heavy metals in Benham Rise), instead of allowing or emboldening China as one more imperialist power to violate the national sovereignty of the Filipino people, the UN Convention on the Law of the Sea and the 2016 judgment of the Permanent Arbitration Commission in favor of the Philippines against China.

On the Author: Jose Maria Sison led the reestablishment of the Communist Party of the Philippines in 1968 as well as the founding of the New People's Army in 1969 and the National Democratic Front of the Philippines in 1973. He is now among the world's most outstanding theoreticians in Marxism-Leninism-Maoism. He continues to do research and write on Philippine and global issues as a public intellectual.

Socialism : Resistance and Resurgence / Jose Maria Sison (Ed) Julieta de Lima Philippines: International Network for Philippine Studies (INPS), 2022
578p.

Sison Reader Series Book 10
$ 100.00 / HB
864gm.

In carrying out the people's democratic revolution in the Philippines, the Communist Party of the Philippines has targeted as enemies of the Filipino people not only US and other foreign monopoly capitalist powers and the local reactionary classes of big compradors, landlords and bureaucrat capitalists but also the revisionists who pose as revolutionaries but in fact espouse bourgeois reformism and pacifism and support what has amounted to capitalist restoration in socialist countries after the first half of the 20th century.

The CPP considers its firm anti-revisionist stand as a major reason for being able to learn and apply effectively the revolutionary theory of the proletariat (Marxism, Leninism and Maoism), in understanding the most important issues in the world and in the Philippines and in carrying out the people's democratic revolution along the strategic line of protracted people's war and in the direction of the socialist revolution.

Knowing the terrible consequences of not waging class struggle and social revolution, the proletariat and people of the world are driven by their own suffering and the threat of human extinction to wage class struggle and social revolution resolutely and militantly and seize all the levers of power and control from the hands of the monopoly bourgeoisie and its minions in order to achieve national liberation, democracy and socialism against imperialism, revisionism and all reaction on an unprecedented scale.

On the Marcos Fascist Dictatorship / Jose Maria Sison (Ed) Julieta de Lima Philippines: International Network for Philippine Studies (INPS), 2022
596p.

Sison Reader Series Book 11
$ 100.00 / HB
892gm.

It is necessary and appropriate to circulate this book in order to mark the forthcoming 50th anniversary of the martial law proclamation dated September 21, 1972, which launched the

Marcos fascist dictatorship, and to wage a counter-offensive to the systematic campaign of the Marcos and Duterte political dynasties to misrepresent the traitorous, brutal and corrupt Marcos fascist rule from 1972 to 1986 as a golden era for the Filipino people.

It is our urgent task to carry out a sustained campaign of information and education to propagate the historical facts and truth about the Marcos fascist dictatorship because the most malevolent anti-national and anti-democratic forces servile to US imperialism and the local exploiting classes of big compradors, landlords and bureaucrat capitalists have succeeded in carrying out a counterrevolutionary campaign of violence and deception and in using automated electoral fraud in order to install the son and daughter of two tyrants as president and vice president, respectively.
