Laos From Buffer State to Crossroads? / Vatthana Pholsena and Ruth Banomyong
Chiang Mai : Mekong Press. 2006
215 p. ; 21 cm.
Includes Bibliography and Index.

$ 19.50

[The authors investigate the country's unwanted role as a buffer state devastatingly drawn into the Indochina wars and the Cold War, its recent accession to the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), and its bilateral relations with Vietnam and Thailand. The current catchcry of Mekong regional development, with Laos as a central node in 'transport corridors', or as a major source of hydroelectric power through large dams, is critically examined. Clearly, change is everywhere in Laos, with the opening up of its borders to its more powerful and numerous neighbours on all sides. How is this affecting its people, its economy, its culture, and its prospects as a nation?]
