[This study series on China's growth industries equips you with a practical analysis of issues affecting foreign investment in China. Focusing on these growth industries at the national level, we help you understand market forces that affect the way people do business in the most populous country in the world.
The Industry Series is just one of the many initiatives that support IE
Singapore's mission to help Singapore-based companies shorten their learning curve as they bring their businesses into the global arena.]

1. Economic Assistance, Japanese – Asia, Southeastern

2. Economic Assistance, Japanese – Asia

3. Japan – Foreign Economic Relations – Asia, Southeastern

4. Asia, Southeastern – Foreign economic relations – Japan

$ 25.00

[External Factors for Asian Development investigates the effects of Japan's foreign aid for development, trade and FDI in ASEAN economies from various perspectives, including: the historical implications of Japan's involvement; agricultural exports; the development patterns of the Southeast Asian economies; the formation of international production and distribution networks; poverty reduction; upgrading technology; and industrial agglomeration.

The contributors analyse trade, FDI and foreign aid from the standpoint of policy coherence at the interface between development co-operation and many other policy areas; trade, agriculture, food safety, fisheries, intellectual property, the environment, international finance, tax policy, migration, and peace and security.]

The Role of Governance in Asia / Edited by Yasutami Shimomura

Singapore : Institute of Southeast Asian Studies,c2003

xiv, 381 p.; 23cm

Asian Development Experience : Vol.2

981-230-197-6 (PB) US$ 25.90

981-230-200-X (HB) US$ 39.90

- 1.Decentralization in government – Asia, Southeastern.
- 2.Decentralization in government – Asia.
- 3.Asia, Southeastern – Economic policy.

[The Role of Governance in Asia investigates the“missing link”, the complicated realities of the relations between governance and development through case studies of ASEAN countries. Its main objective is to explore a theoretical framework to overcoming the limitations of mainstream approaches by employing case studies on decentralization, crisis management, corporate governance and foreign aid management of both public and private entities.

While a wide variety of empirical studies has been done on the relations between good governance and development, it is still unclear how the differences in governance influence development performance in a real world.]

Regional Cooperation in Asia / Edited by Ryokichi Hirono

Singapore : Institute of Southeast Asian Studies,c2003

ix, 108 p.; ill.; 23cm

Asian Development Experience : Vol.3

981-230-204-2 (PB) US$ 15.50

2. Regionalism – Asia.
- 3.Japan-Relations – Asia, Southeastern
- 4.Asia, Southeastern – Relation – Japan.
- 5.Japan-Relation-Asia
- 6.Asia, Southeastern – Relation – Japan.

[Regional Cooperation in Asia reviews the domestic reforms effectively introduced by ASEAN members after the 1997 financial crisis and what could be done to accelerate such reforms. With the entry of the 4 new members into ASEAN, possible measures to strengthen both intra-and extra-ASEAN regional cooperation frameworks are sought so that the 10 ASEAN members can make a smooth economic and social transformation to tackle globalization and accommodate the two highly competitive giant economies, China and India.

The Study also seeks to identify what could be the role of Japan in promoting its economic relations with the ASEAN – 10 under the ongoing framework of the WTO and the ASEAN –plus-Three in the light of the current trend towards greater regionalism in Europe and the Americas.]

FDI and Development in Vietnam : Policy Implications / Pham Hoang Mai

Singapore : Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, c2004
Xiii, 171p.; ill.; 23cm.

Includes Bibliography and Index
981-230-225-5

1. Investments, Foreign – Vietnam
 2. Vietnam-Economic conditions.
 3. Vietnam – Economic policy – 1975
- $ 25.00

[As Vietnam's economy moves further along the path of development, this book presents urgent lessons for policymakers from the country's first decade of experience for foreign direct investment.

A mere decade after the start of its reforms toward a market-oriented economy, a World Bank report named Vietnam the second largest recipient of FDI. Drawing on a wealth of hitherto unpublished data and qualitative analysis, this work critically examines the overall impact of FDI on Vietnam's economy. A major finding is that government policy and intervention has been important in channeling foreign investment flows toward national and regional development goals.

FDI and Development in Vietnam is also a significant addition to the debates on FDI – Induced effects such as technology transfer and employment creation in developing countries. It will be of great interest to all those researching or involved in policymaking in transitional economies in particular.]

Getting Organized in Vietnam : Moving in and around the Socialist State / Edited by Benedict J.Tria Kerkvliet, Russell H.K.Heng, and David W.H.Koh

3. Labor unions – Vietnam.
4. Social service – Vietnam
5. Vietnam – Economic conditions
6. Vietnam – Politics and Government – 1975

$ 35.00

[Getting organized in Vietnam also constitutes an enquiry into the term "civil society" itself. The contributors examine current thinking about the nature of the state in Vietnam in particular. Included here are the first attempts to provide a framework for assessing and categorizing the bewildering array of small organizations in Vietnam: which ones are weakly connected to the state, which ones are independent of the state but perhaps dependent on outside funding agencies.

This book is a must for scholars, policymakers, journalists, and others interested in understanding political and social change in Vietnam and other transitional economies.]

The Indonesian Rural Economy: Mobility, Work and Enterprise / Edited by Thomas R. Leinbach

Singapore : Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, c2004
xix, 316 p.; 23cm

Includes Index

981-230-214-X

- 1.Indonesia – Rural conditions.
 - 2.Small business – Indonesia.
 - 3.Rural industries – Indonesia.
- $ 35.00

[This book is the most up-to-date and authoritative work on Indonesia's rural non-farm development characteristics and potential. The essays, by experts and well-known specialists in the field, emphasize the changing importance of off – farm income, employment contributions of small enterprises, the role of gender and mobility in entrepreneurial behaviour and the policy implications for rural non-farm enterprises. A unique feature is the use of case studies to provide insights and context for activities. The book is both a summary of current knowledge and a call for new inquiries on this critical theme.]

Cities of Aristocrats and Bureaucrats : The Development of Medieval Chinese Cityscapes / Heng Chye Kiang
 Singapore : Singapore University Press, c1999
 xviii, 240 p.; ill.; 26cm
 9971-69-223-6
 $ 49.50

[The emergence of the open city during the 11th century is one of the most dramatic and important changes in Chinese urban history. While the Sui and the early Tang city was controlled and highly disciplined with restricted commercial activity, the late Northern Song city filled with pluralistic streets active around the clock became a new urban paradigm. These cities reflect the respective societies that gave rise to them – one rooted in a strong aristocratic power with a highly hierarchical social structure, and the other shaped by a pluralistic, mercantile society managed by pragmatic professional bureaucrats.

This book provides an in-depth account of the process of transformation from the curfewed city of the Tang period to the open city of the Song. It analyses the multi-dimensional factors that gradually led to the development of an urban culture which in turn helped cement the trend towards the open city with its irregular layout and distinct urban tissue and silhouette.]

p.

US$ 32.00

[In 1854, 17-year-old Wong Ah Fook arrived in Singapore. He made his way from carpenter to towkay, built palaces and landmark buildings and founded the first local bank in Singapore. The book also traces his role in opening up Johor in the days of Sultan Abu Bakar. More than a rags-to-riches story, the life of Wong Ah Fook is told against the backdrop of the social and economic history of Singapore and Malaysia. At the core of the narrative is a story of a man and his family. The author is Wong Ah Fook's great-granddaughter. She has skilfully combined family affection with objective scholarship to write this biography.]

Conflict and Cooperation in Managing Maritime Space in Semi-enclosed Seas / Vivian Louis Forbes

Singapore : Singapore University Press, c2001

xviii, 384 p.; ill.; 30cm

Includes Bibliography, Index and Maps

9971-69-243-0

$ 45.00

[The aim of this study is to assess the practice of littoral states towards cooperative management of maritime space, possible only through trans-border cooperation, and the utilization of marine resources in semi-enclosed seas. The goals are to develop a theoretical framework, which explains the impact of conflict resolution as a means of managing the marine commons, and to analyse the various aspects of coastal and island states' ocean policies. Also included in this book is an evaluation of selected cases of dispute resolution over territorial claims and border discrepancies.]

[Any investigation of the past is laden with possibilities, not all of which are welcome. So it is with Cousin June, a memoir of remarkable honesty in which what is unspoken is as important as what is revealed.]

Through recollections of Shanghai and Malaya in which her memories and those of her Cousin June become increasingly entwined, Zheng Shuying captures the spirit of a bygone era and explains its rituals, rules and codes.

The stories that emerge are by turns comic and deeply felt, fraught with the emotions and hopes of the people they have known, and expressed in lyrical passages that mirror Zheng's search for answers.]

[Fragile Days is a collection of short stories revealing the lives of a wide cross-section of

Thai society – the poor peasant who goes job-hunting in the city, only to end up yet another victim of urban decay; the middle class corporate executive whose lack of social responsibility renders him unable to instill moral values in his own child; the prominent socialite who will do anything to maintain her image and social position. Characters and situations come across all the more powerfully for their familiarity.

These tales reflect the distorted values in today's Thailand, where economic progress has resulted in lost traditions, changing social structure, materialism, emotional isolation and shifting ideals.]

Singapore : Singapore University Press, c2001

xi, 313 p.; 22cm

Includes Selected Bibliography

9971-69-241-4

$.35.00

[To understand Chinese development or why China could sustain development in the face of the Asia economic crisis, we need first to gain a deep appreciation of the on-going changes in China since 20 years ago. The purpose of this book is to provide an in-depth analysis of some essential issues during the Deng Xiaoping reform as well as during the transition towards the post – Deng era. This volume covers seminal discussions of fundamental problems during the transition in three major areas, i.e., economic reforms, political changes, and foreign relations.]

Islam and the State in Indonesia / Bahtiar Effendy
 Singapore : Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 2003
 216 p.
 981-230-082-1 (PB) US$ 25.90
 981-230-083-1 (HB) US$ 39.90

[This book explains the relationship between Islam and the state and politics in contemporary Indonesia. President Soeharto's departure from office in May 1998 brought tremendous and far-reaching impacts to Indonesia's political landscape. At least 181 new political parties came into being, a sizeable portion of which use Islam as their symbol and ideological basis.]

Southeast Asia in the New Century : An Asian Perspective / Edited by Samuel C.Y.Ku
 Taiwan : Center For Southeast Asian Studies, c2002
 Dist : Singapore : Singapore University Press
 v, 269 p.; 22cm
 9971-69-262-7
 $. 28.00

[The main objective of this book is to examine the development of Southeast Asia in the new century from different perspectives, as the various contributing authors explore and discuss the opportunities and challenges facing it. While several articles are in the discipline of political science, there are also articles from the perspectives of economics, education, and political economy. Perhaps more importantly, the contributors of the articles in this book are from several different countries in Asia, including Singapore, Indonesia, Vietnam, the Philippines, China, and Australia. They were born, and grew up, in Asia, and were educated in both Asia and North America. They thus have the advantage of a better understanding of the area.]

[This book critically analyses the specific threat of terrorism in Southeast Asia since the Bali blasts of 12 October 2002 and the US – led war on Iraq. It offers a comprehensive and critical examination of the ideological, socioeconomic and political motivations, trans-regional linkages, and media representations of the terrorist threat in the region, assesses the efficacy of the regional counter-terror response and suggests a more balanced and nuanced approach to combating the terror threat in Southeast Asia. The contributors include leading scholars of political Islam in the region, renowned terrorism and regional security analysts, as well as highly regarded regional journalists and commentators. This represents a formidable and unequalled combination of expertise.]

[Southeast Asian Affairs, of which there are now thirty in the series, is an annual review of significant developments and trends in the region. Though the emphasis is on ASEAN countries, developments in the broader Asia-Pacific region are not ignored. Readable and easily understood analyses are offered of major political, economic, social, and strategic developments within Southeast Asia. The contributions can be divided into two broad categories. There are those which provide an analysis of major developments during 2002 in individual Southeast Asian countries and in the region generally. Then there are the theme articles of a more specialised nature which deal with topical problems of concern. The volume contains twenty articles dealing with such major themes as international conflict and co-operation, political stability, and economic growth and development.]

[Spatial modernization in Singapore is a shared outcome of modernism and developmentalism resulting from pursuits for economic survival in the post-independence era. Through state-led programmes, land use transformation is witnessed by social and economic progress strongly associated with anti –traditional behaviours and social rationality. This is infused with political imperatives and convictions in improvements of material standards of living perceived as a symbol of good governance. Areas investigated in spatial change are the central area, infrastructure, industries, housing and recreational space.]

 Urban Quality of Life : Critical Issues and Options / Edited by Lim Lan Yuan, Belinda Yuen, Christine Low

Includes Index 9971-69-272-4

$ 20.00

[One of the clichés that Singaporeans hold most dear is that their lives are a pursuit of the five c's : cash, cars, condominiums, credit cards and club memberships. Over the last thirty years, Singaporeans have become accustomed to ever-increasing levels of consumption. Singapore's PAP government has 'delivered the goods', and this is recognized as a prime reason for its legitimacy. But what is the culture of this consumption? What does shopping say about Singapore society?

Singaporeans will recognize themselves in these pages, as Chua looks beyond the shop windows and the TV commercials to examine how we constitute Singapore's social reality in an environment steeped in global consumer imagery.]

 Beyond Rituals and Riots : Ethnic Pluralism and Social Cohesion in Singapore / Edited by Lai Ah Eng
 Singapore : Eastern universities press, c2004
 Xiii, 370 p.; 23cm
 Includes Index 981-210-272-8
 $ 35.00

[This book is based in the Institute of Policy Studies' 'Ethnic Relations Project' . It aims to understand the current state and complexity of ethnic pluralism in Singapore, and to identify key trends and issues in various areas impacting ethnic pluralism and social cohesion. It also seeks to promote professional, intellectual and public dialogue on important issues based on research findings and recommendations.

In line with its aims, the book is a problem- and policy-driven with a focus on policy implications and where policy meets culture, and each chapter concludes with general or specific policy recommendations towards improving ethnic relations and social cohesion. All the articles are based on empirical and scholarly research, employing multidisciplinary perspectives, and a range of methodologies, and cover political history, legal-structural institutions, state policies, education, social services, media culture and community.]

 Ageing and Long-Term Care : National Policies in the Asia – Pacific / Edited by David
 R. Phillips and Alfred C.M. Chan
 Singapore : Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 2003
 242 p. 981-230-173-9
 US$ 29.90

[The case studies in this book focus on the emergence, extent and nature of national policies on ageing and associated strategies to address long-term care needs. Key opportunities for and constraints on policy are identified in this first round of regional studies, written by prominent researchers in Hong Kong, Korea, Malaysia, Singapore and Thailand, who are partners in the Ageing Research Network of the Asian Development Research Forum. The case-studies are set in the context of regional and international plans of action on ageing and the deliberations of the Second World Assembly on Ageing held in 2002.]
