This anthology is the first book-length study of China's ecosystem through the lens of cinema. Proposing "ecocinema" as a new critical framework, the volume collectively investigates a wide range of urgent topics in today's world: Chinese and Western epistemologies of nature and humanity; the dialect of socialist modernization amid capitalist globalization; shifting configurations of space, locale, cityscape, and natural landscape; gender, religion, and ethnic cultures; as well as bioethics and environmental politics

It has been said time and again that a semester in Fr. Nick's class changes one's way of appreciating cinema. It is hoped that this collection will also reach out to those who did not have the opportunity to study under Fr. Nick, that they too may expand their understanding and appreciation of film.
