This book is divided into three sections – "Ricefield Egret" (contains six stories), "Yuyutsu's Musings" (seven stories) and "Ringgg ...!" (nine stories). The first section presents stories with rural backgrounds – villages and remote inland areas. All the stories here are in the realistic tradition. The second section offers stories – sometime closer to sketches – which revolve in the minds of the characters and can be classified as mindscape stories. The third sections contain stories with urban backgrounds, particularly metropolitan cities abroad like Bangkok, Hong Kong and New York.

He cried. There was a look of regret on his face. The baby was sleeping soundly in the cot. It had thin lips and its skin was reddish, a colour that was very different from that of the other babies. He put one hand slowly under the baby's head and the other under its buttocks. The colour of its hair was golden. He lifted the baby very carefully and put it in his lap. The Baby stretched and moved its hands. It was obvious that the baby was not like the other babies. He kissed the baby who was unlike other babies.

Song of the Pelican = Nyanyian Undan / Suhaimi Haji Muhammad
Kuala Lumpur: Institut Terjemahan Negara Malaysia Berhad, 2010
xviii. 148p. ; 19cm.

ISBN-13: 9789830684369

1. Malay poetry – Translations into English

Malaysian Literature Series

Winner of the S.E.A. Write Award

$ 15.00

The poems in this collection, Song of the Pelican, are extremely well crafted. There is intensity in the interrelationship between the poet and his work, and the dimensions of intellect and emotion are carefully balanced against each other. Most of the poems are ballads. Some utilize the technique of a limited omniscient authorial point of view, together with the interaction of various people to convey the poet's moral intentions.

Saigon Gold / Hugh Scott

Hanoi: The Gioi, 2009

2nd Edition

318p,; 23cm

$ 20.00

In Saigon Gold, Robert Anderson returns to contemporary Vietnam seeking atonement for civilian casualties during the American War. But soon after checking into the luxurious Caravelle Hotel in Ho Chi Minh City, he is thrust into a dangerous scheme to help a wartime friend recover a gold fortune missing since April 1975.

Anderson meets alluring Jenny Ngo, and the stakes quickly escalate. Unaware they are being watched, Anderson and Jenny frantically race the length of scenic Vietnam in a desperate effort to decipher the deadly secret of a wartime ambush while staying one step ahead of pursuers and a mysterious killer.

Powerful forces inexorably converge on collision courses. For Anderson and Jenny, they face obstacles at every turn while they confront their own emotional scars.

Separating fact and fiction is a challenge in Saigon Gold's volatile mix of international intrigue, lethal double cross, and haunted memories.
